Town Meetings to Help Princeton Take a Long Look at Its Future

What's the best way to use Princeton's land?

That's the broad topic to be considered in 1972 by a variety of people concerned with Princeton. Narrowed down, the question encompasses the next small, halting step toward a 92-A bypass around Princeton, possible radical revision of zoning ordinances to make apartment construction more sensible, a scientific study of natural resources, an uneasy look at what unbounded growth in towns around Princeton can mean for Princeton itself.

And, the last two Saturdays in January, exuberant town-wide free-for-all discussion on what the two mayors call "our town, uptown, in-town, downtown, midtown . . ."

Those two town meetings will be held at the First Presbyterian Church starting at 9:20 a.m. January 22 and 29. Everybody is invited. The area of discussion is Nassau Street, from Borough Hall to Moore Street (and back), via Park Place, Spring, Avalon and Bayard Lane.

What to do with it all? What needs doing in that heart-land? How can the limitations be overcome?

It's Borough Mayor Robert W. Cawley's particular project. He and his fellow planners, architect Jeremiah Ford, University representative Leslie Viviano and ex-mayor

Raymond F. Male, are even now inviting eight people to come on January 22 and make three-minute statements about the way they'd like to see the heart of Princeton beat.

Then slides of the town. Then questions. After lunch on Presbyterian sandwiches, slides of other towns and the way they've built their lives. Then distribution of walking tour maps, and an invitation to tour the town and see for yourself.

The following Saturday, after all that listening, there will be a chance for everybody to talk. Workshop groups of 10-20 people will be invited to cluster together and exchange ideas.

The eight invited to speak on January 22 will represent the elderly and the young, employers and workers, conservationists and artists, ethnic groups and consumers — maybe several combined in one speaker. However, on January 29, anybody can speak and Mayor Cawley hopes a very great many will.

Meanwhile, in other parts of the community, the experts are at work. "The old single-lot zoning we have in Borough and Township doesn't work," is the flat statement of Hans K. Sander, chairman of the Regional Planning Board.

So the board has appointed a five-man committee of architect-planners to make up a whole new set of ground rules for putting a building on a lot. The idea is to set the stage for what planners always call multi-family dwelling units — apartments or town-houses.

Why, for example, should a building be set back on all four sides? Why not examine closely certain European developments in which there are as many as 15-20 units per acre, all with delightful privacy and lots of open space?

A couple of possibilities present themselves: special zones for multi-family building, like the four zones Lawrence Township has, or an open map, inviting developers to come in and make a case for a particular spot, as Princeton Community Housing did with its off-Terhune Township location.

Mostly, of course, this affects the Township because that's where the land is. But Mr. Sander warns that the Borough may have to consider taking down existing buildings to bring itself up to date and allow more room for new development.

In both Princeton's zoning ordinances would need overhaul to allow for a new game like this.

The advisory committee of architects consists of Jean Labatut, retired from the University's architecture faculty; Michael Erdman, Phileas H. Holt, John Zvoisek and

Two School Board Candidates Explain Views

Over-crowding at Princeton High School is one of the prime concerns of Winthrop Pike, school board member running for his third term.

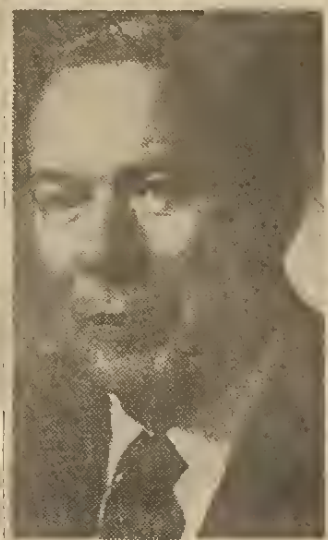

"I'm also concerned about the need to keep a strong athletic program in the whole system and to strengthen it at the Middle School level," he said in an interview this week. "The athletic program is getting eroded, and this disturbs me; it helps a lot of kids. I'd also like to see more options in vocational education."

What also disturbs Mr. Pike is the frequent charge that he opposes innovation. "I'm not against innovation!" he said. "My work at RCA testifies to this. The patents I hold they didn't come from a man opposed to innovation."

"But first, we must decide whether something really is an innovation," he continued, citing multi-age classrooms as an example of the old fashioned school-room with many ages in attendance.

"Innovations need to be carefully planned and carefully introduced," he explained. "If I blow a transistor, it costs RCA 40c. If you ruin a kid, you cannot estimate the cost."

Use of TV Favored. One in

Winthrop Pike

This is the first in a series of interviews with the seven candidates running for the three seats on the Princeton Regional School Board. Elections are Tuesday, February 7.

This week, the interviews are with Winthrop Pike, seeking his third three-year term as a Township member of the board, and Mrs. Barbara Schleyer, who is running for a first term as Township member of the board. In the next two weeks, TOWN TOPICS will carry interviews with T. C. Allen, Phillip Cruickshank and Frank Wells, the other Township candidates, and with Kathleen Edwards and Eric Craig of the borough.

novation he would like to see is more frequent use of closed circuit TV, perhaps used to solve some of the high school's space problems.

He commended Littlebrook Principal Lloyd Taylor for "imaginative things he's done with video tape. But I cite TV because it happens to be in my bailiwick; some places you can use it, some you can't. The thing is to find the tool suitable to solve the problem."

West Windsor's departure will ease over-crowding at the high school, Mr. Pike observed, and he referred to the 520 West Windsor students scheduled to be in PHS next year.

The old high school building's individual classrooms do not provide for the flexible groupings now used in schools, he added and emphasized that, if re-elected, he "would very much like" to be on a board committee concerned with the high school.

Mr. Pike did not introduce the subject of Superintendent Philip E. McPherson as a campaign issue. "I've supported him on occasion and opposed him on occasion," he said. "The role of a board member is to consider various suggestions independently, and vote."

Mrs. Barbara Schleyer

"I'm interested in searching for mechanisms through which all sectors of the town, especially Italian-Americans, who practically founded Princeton — can be made welcome at Princeton High."

Mrs. Barbara Schleyer, candidate for the school board from the Township said this week that the high school is the chief focus of her attention as a candidate.

She emphasized the ethnic composition of the school, commenting that "we have over-emphasized Black Studies at the expense of studies of Italian, Irish or Polish heritage."

Racial tensions at the high school, Mrs. Schleyer believes, are complex. "They involve chiefly Italian-black relations, but also Italian kids versus the non-Italian white intellectuals. It's not by any means 'West Windsor greasers.' But I think black-white relations at the school are rather better than they were, and if we can do it in that area, we can make our ethnic relationships better, too."

Safeguards Essential Mrs. Schleyer fears that the atmosphere at the high school "destroys what we've taught our kids in the home; we must ask of a school system that it NOT destroy what we've taught."

She said she was referring to teachings in the home against bigotry, which she felt were negated by the climate at the high school, and she declared that she decided to run for the school board because she believed that questions of bigotry, drug abuse and "practical democracy" could best be faced and solved at the school level, rather than in the political arena.

The candidate has been active for many years in the Princeton Community Democratic Association, and worked for Township Democrats in recent campaigns.

As a board member, she continued, she would be interested in curriculum, but not particularly interested in such areas as finance. "I'm looking for ways to turn kids back on," she said.

Taught at Private Schools. Now a research bio-chemist with the state Department of Health, Mrs. Schleyer taught for many years at the former Miss Fine's School and its successor, Princeton Day Schools.

"As a former teacher, I appreciate the pressures teachers are under," she said. "A teacher is best when allowed to do what he or she thinks is best — it's not necessary for the community to get into the act. I believe teachers should be hired with care, screened for tenure with extreme care, and then given their heads. The way a teacher runs a classroom is up to the teacher and the principal, and no one else."

She added that teachers should not be pressured into multi-age teaching if that didn't happen to be their style.

Town Meetings

Martin Beck, all of whom met this week with Mr. Sander and Golda Gottlieb, the Regional Planning Board's housing subcommittee chairman.

"These men work all over the eastern seaboard," Mr.
Sander, observes. "They're plugged in to all the new developments and they KNOW Princeton."

By-Pass Studied. Experts on the engineering side are also working out their conception of the future. Maps detailing the Route 206 interchange for the 92-A bypass have come from State Highway engineers, although the bypass, drawing heavy traffic away from Princeton, is still far down the road.

The designs were broadly approved this fall by both Princeton Township and Montgomery, and by Mercer and Somerset Counties, but state engineers say it will be spring, 1973 before complete plans are ready. Then the long land acquisition process will begin.

According to the present design, Route 206 remains as a service road. A re-aligned 206,
"92 A" veer west from Hill side Avenue, angling north across Cherry Valley Road, with access roads from both Cherry Valley and the present 206.

Two northbound and two southbound lanes go north from Hillside to a point near the Hospital Association Building on Route 206. A half interchange (more than a jug handle, less than an interchange) on the west side of where Route 206 now is, lies on the Nassau Convoy Motors property in Montgomery and encompasses the Nassau Oil Company land in Princeton Township.

The Proposed Route. These two properties are "wiped out," in the words of Montgomery engineers, but they point out that other alignments would have been worse because they would have taken the houses along the west side of Route 206.

straddles the county line as it goes east toward Kingston, lying partly in Princeton Township and partly in Montgomery. Headed east and south, it crosses Route 27 at Raymond Road and Route
One at Ridge Road.

But not yet. That bypass has been on the drawing boards so long that one state highway engineer, now ready for retirement, did bypass studies as a young engineer, and his son is now looking over the bypass calculations his father made.

"We're now standing in line for the money," is the comment made by Bruce Brumfield, a state engineer.

Controlling Growth. Natural resources and how they're affected by growth, is the Number One item for the Township's Conservation Commission this year—and for a possible new Borough Conservation Commission.

James C. Sayen, who's headed the Township's group for over a decade, is moving to the Borough and as long as he's there, he figures he might as well try and start a Borough Commission.

Mr. Sayen says the state likes these commissions because the increasingly powerful Department of Environmental Protection wants existing channels for communication. And the urban Borough, with problems of air pollution and solid waste disposal, isn't all that remote from the need for a conservation group, Mr.

Sayen believes.

In his place as chairman,
the Township Conservation Commission is scheduled to appoint Mrs. Margen Penick, and she described this week a natural-resources study to be undertaken by the group.

"We're starting out by taking an inventory of all the studies made of water resources, stream flow, rock formation and so on, so there won't be duplication," she explains. This project is under the guidance of Ian Walker, head of the Stony Brook Mill stone Watersheds Association.

A Search for Funds. Ford Foundation money will be sought, after a cost-consultation with Lyle Fitch, Conservation Commission consultant, but Mr. Sayen says the study will go ahead anyway, with money obtained from somewhere.

Right here in town, are some kinds of land that can only absorb so many people.
Mrs. Penick points out, referring to the hard-rock diabase strip across the northern township. It's already protected to a great extent by the band consisting of Herron town Woods, and Autumn Hill and Woodfield Reservations.

But conservationists are uneasy about the continuing search for Township rateables and what additional buildings might do to the land. (Hence the uproar over construction of the North Square office buildings.)

The really hard questions lie outside Princeton's borders.
Conservationists in Princeton, to say nothing of traffic experts, housing experts and planners, are wary indeed of area growth.

"You can't MAKE a neighboring municipality set aside Open Space land," Mrs. Pen-ick observes, "and if they won't, what should Princeton do? Unbounded growth in other towns may mean they take our water from us. What do we do? Should Princeton be a regional resource center supplying everything from water to shopping? The value questions in land use are profound."

WORK WEEK CUT

At Princeton Hospital. Employees of Princeton Hospital have been asked to take a pay cut in the form of a shorter work week to avoid a major layoff.

In a memorandum circulated Monday, John W. Kauffman, executive vice-president, stated that the Hospital's Board of Trustees had approved an administration plan placing all employees on a 37½ hour workweek beginning with the first pay period in February, or sooner if possible.

"We believe this plan of sharing the problem among the employees is a much fairer solution and will eliminate the need to lay off any employee," Mr. Kauffman added. Mr. Kauffman explained that the hospital had 3,793 patient days less in 1971, or a loss in income of more than $345,500. He cited as reasons for the income loss, the improved utilization of the hospital resulting in patients staying a shorter length of time. Also patients with certain illnesses are being treated at home and not being admitted to the hospital. And finally patients with elective medical problems are delaying admission because of the unemployment in the hospital's service area.

"We hope the economy of Princeton will improve in 1972," Mr. Kauffman said, "but until this improvement becomes a reality, the Hospital must curtail its expenses."

In another economy move, the hospital is firing its force of seven security guards, and will employ a Trenton detective service, A.P. & B. Detective Agency, instead.

The move is part of an efficiency drive to bring hospital costs down for patients according to administrator Walter Seligman.

RAINFALL IS WINDELL

Or, Snowmen Cost Money. A brief Borough Council meeting was enlivened Tuesday night when Councilman Robert Hendry reported that the no snow winter has saved Borough taxpayers $15,000 in snow removal costs. He made no weather predictions for future months.

Mayor Robert W. Cawley read his statement on Councilman Joseph Moore (see else where, "Topics of the Town") and said "I'm hopeful that Councilman Moore and I can find meaningful assignments for him this year."

He asked Civil Rights Commission aid in working on Borough rights problems.

The mayor named Mrs. Margery Claghorn, 43 Vandeventer, Borough Zoning Board alternate replacing Roger McDonough. Councilman Hendry objected because he had proposed the name of Mrs. Marie Coan. Mrs. Coan, a Democrat like Mr. Hendry, ran unsuccessfully for Borough mayor last fall as an Independent.

Mayor Cawley appointed Dr. Gavin Hildick Smith, 55 Westcott Road, to the Borough Board of Health, replacing Mrs. Arthur P. Morgan, who has resigned.

Councilman Thomas Cawley reported that studies are under way on a municipal recycling program. Administrator Robert F. Money reported nine letters and several phone calls

Why Not?

If the sky is Just too grey,
Go south, where sunshine
Loves to play.

Not that people are cancelling out on their plans to go south, but the winter of 1971-72 is continuing to make headlines as temperatures run well above normal.

They've been bouncing around the 50-degree mark again this week, and the thin snowfall of last Wednesday melted after a stay of 48 hours. Colder weather is on the way, but the forecast does not include snow.

The weekend prediction calls for partly sunny skies and thermometer readings generally above the freezing mark.

Winthrop Pike

Accordingly, "I'm unwilling to accept a recommendation blindly. Once passed, however, you should support it."

"I have supported the superintendent in the thrust to give each school and its principal more leeway in the monies allocated to them," he continued. "This was McPherson's idea and I endorse it—developing ways to put a lump in the pot for each school, under the direction of the principal. This allows principal and teachers to move the way they would like to move. We haven't yet developed a way of deciding the size of the lump for each school."

Problems Are Varied. Parents who telephone Mr. Pike are usually concerned about a private problem regarding their own child, but questions about racial tension or discipline at the high school are mentioned also.

"A lot of parents want stronger measures at the high school," he said, "some want a very strict system with no student decisions, and some kids need this, but a lot don't need it. You've got to dole out responsibility as you see kids are able to take it. Not all kids are ready for a free school. The candidate approves 'pluralism' (many kinds of learning environments) but points out that it can cost money."

"In helping kids learn that some behavior limits are necessary, the schools must be careful to apply the same rules to all, and to give the same opportunity to all."

"We have kids who don't see the need for being in school—we don't reach them for many reasons, maybe because we don't have many vocational offerings, maybe because kids have never really learned basic skills, and if you can't read fluently in the high school, you're a dead duck! We must be sure, in the lower grades, that we don't just pass kids up the ladder without doing anything about them."

Turning to the school board, Mr. Pike said the board was still in a crisis management situation.

"Some things get to the board that never should—the football crisis, for example. This happens because administrators don't cope beforehand, either because the policy isn't clear, or because the administration isn't sure how to apply it. The administration should take more initiative in coping with problems."

She expressed admiration for the Wednesday Program. "It's marvelous," she said. "It allows teachers from different programs to talk with each other and learn from each other."

Mrs. Schleyer declined to comment on Superintendent Philip E. McPherson and said she would not "deal in personalities" in her campaign. Voters who have approached her, she said, are more concerned about bigotry in the high school than about personalities.

As the lone unendorsed candidate, Mrs. Schleyer said she was urged to withdraw by representatives of the Committee for Princeton Schools. "But I am going to stay in the race until the end. There is no longer any pressure on me to withdraw, but I expect it will be renewed as election gets closer."

Commenting on the community and the schools, Mrs. Schleyer said she would like to see a return to the years when fewer voters turned out for school elections and the contests produced "less of a furor. I'd like to see school elections as less important than political elections."

Alexander St. to Close for Three Weeks

Lower Alexander Street, from West Road to Route 1, will be closed for about three weeks starting Monday to permit the State Department of Transportation to make extensive repairs on the Canal Bridge. Detour signs will remain in effect during weekends.

All through southbound traffic to Route 1 will be detoured across Faculty Road to Washington Road; all through northbound traffic will be detoured into Princeton via Washington Road or Harrison Street.

To expedite the flow of northbound traffic on Washington Road, Township Chief of Police Frederick M. Porter advises motorists normally using Alexander Street to utilize Faculty Road from Washington and proceed north on Alexander during peak traffic hours.

MOORE TO SERVE

On Drug Group. Joseph Moore, Borough Councilman who has declined membership on the usual Councilman committees, will serve as Council's representative on the Inter Governmental Drug Abuse Committee, he announced this week.

Mr. Moore has attended the group's recent meetings and participated in the selection of the three community members, Borough Mayor Robert

W. Cawley said at his press conference Tuesday that he would indeed appoint Mr. Moore to the post, although he hadn't yet been informed that the Councilman wanted the drug job.

"I should like to break my silence concerning Councilman Moore's statements on January 1," the mayor said in a formal press release.

The young black Councilman wanted the job of Police Commissioner for the Borough, but Mayor Cawley appointed newcomer Councilman Arthur P. Morgan instead and Mr. Moore announced New Year's Day that he would therefore accept no Council committee appointments. Mr. Moore reported that Mayor Cawley told him he would be an "intimidating factor" to the police, and that there would be resignations from the force if he were Commissioner. The mayor still declines comment on those two reported remarks.

Qualifications Listed. In his statements, Mayor Cawley said "I selected (as Police Commissioner) the person I thought best qualified for a post I consider very important."

Asked what qualifications a Commissioner should have, the mayor said, after long thought, "maturity, sensitivity, good judgment, and be in town and available a lot of the time."

The mayor stated that, while he can see areas for improvement in administrative matters, he believes that, "government in Princeton is of a relatively high order of efficiency."

He warned that Council "will set, I hope, very high standards" for improving relations between Borough employees and all citizens "in our concern with social change."

Need for Sensitivity. Any Councilman or public official should be concerned about responsiveness to the citizen need, and should be sensitive to the way public employees treat citizens.

Mr. Moore had named police and health departments as particularly insensitive to the public.

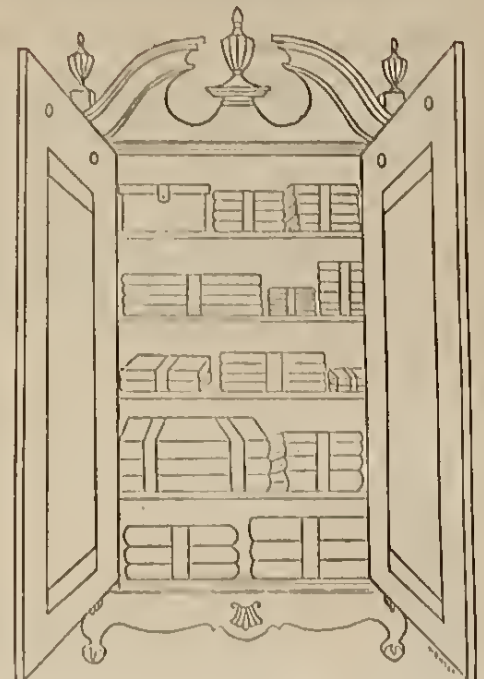

"Unresponsiveness and insensitivity are extremely difficult to measure, or to cope with," the mayor stated, especially under the stress of social change.

He said Council, in 1971, had discussed several cases touching employee behavior on the job and he said, "I think it is important to emphasize that employees must be treated with 'due process' just like

The Police Community Relations Training Program is intended to improve police sensitivity, the mayor explained, and he said that another session would be held this spring, and that the program may even be expanded.

Next week, the mayor will announce the members of a new committee formed to improve relations between citizens and government.

"I invite any citizen who feels he has been treated improperly, or who observed improper treatment of others, to bring information to elected officials," the mayor declared.

MORE APARTMENTS?

Maybe 600. The Township's Master Plan figure of 200 multiple-housing units perhaps should be increased to 600, the planning board suggested Monday night.

The original 200 figure will be almost exhausted by Princeton Community Housing's plan for 240 units. Princeton University plans another 276.

Higher-income apartments are also under consideration for the Township, and the chief question is whether a numerical limit should be set.

The question of roomers and small apartments within a private home was referred to the Board of Health and the Zoning Board for comment, with action expected in February.

The planning board proposed an amendment to the zoning ordinance's off-street parking requirements, allowing a developer to lay down parking spaces in phases, starting with half the number required by the zoning ordinance.

Remaining spaces could be installed as needed, and the Township would have the power to put them in and bill the owner, if the owner declines.

DRUG GROUP AT WORK

Inter-Governmental Begins Task. With the appointment of three community members, all of them approved by governing bodies, the new Inter-Governmental Committee on Drug Abuse Prevention has started its work.

The new members are:

Dr. David Atkin, pediatrician and already a member of the Princeton Drug Committee named early last year.

Dr. Norman Freeberg, research psychologist at Educational Testing Service, with an extensive background in evaluation, job-re-training and adolescent psychology.

Joanne Stephenson, Princeton Youth Center staff member, graduate of Princeton High School and currently a student at Princeton Theological Seminary.

Governmental members are: Joseph Moore, Borough Councilman;

Barbara Smoyer, Township Committeeman;

C. George Fitzgerald, School Board member;

Lawrence Ivao, Borough Board of Health;

Ellen Peterson, Township Board of Health;

The Rev. Mr. Fitzgerald has been chosen chairman of the group and Mrs. Peterson, secretary.

"Our immediate brush fire is the future of the Special Project," Mr. Fitzgerald said this week. The committee will meet next week with Special project representatives and with the "Committee of Twelve" (formerly the Committee of Ten) to discuss the problem. The Special Project was cancelled by its parent body, the Child Guidance Agency, for lack of funding.

Meetings of the new inter-governmental group will be held, "as needed," Mr. Fitzgerald, which probably means once a week. Public meetings may be scheduled from time to time, he said.

The committee will examine soon the question of a home for the Institute for Applied Psychotherapy and funding for IAP. Over a longer range, the group plans to work out guidelines for shaping up a drug program, and will also find out what state and Federal funds are available for drug programs. Detoxification, drug education as a preventive, and establishment of a Halfway House will also be studied, Mr. Fitzgerald said.

SQUIBB GETS CREDIT

For Holding Line on Taxes. The four-year-old dream of Lawrence Township officials has finally come true. The E.R. Squibb & Sons complex on Route 206 can now be counted as a rateable. And the figures are sweet enough perhaps to mollify even the most bitter critic of the project, which survived a drawn-out court suit brought by several residents of North Lawrence.

Along with other new rateables of $1.5 million, the Squibb property, assessed at $4.5 million for 1972, based on 50% evaluation, will completely cover the projected school tax increase for this year.

Lawrence school officials approved a tentative school budget of $5,737,911 Monday night, an increase of 6.4%. Dr. Joseph File, chairman of the school budget committee said the tax hike could be avoided if Lawrence produced $6 million in new rateables.

Lawrence's assistant tax assessor, Robert Immordino said the township would have the $6 million in new rateables, with Squibb paying the lion's share.

Without the new rateables, the school budget would probably mean a tax hike of 51 cents per $100 of assessed valuation or $31 in taxes on a $30,000 home.

The current budget is $345,588 higher than last year's. A public hearing has been set for 8 p.m., Wednesday, January 26 in Lawrence High School North on Princeton Pike.

SLUGGED UNCONSCIOUS

At Student Center. A manager of the Student Center on the Princeton University campus was knocked unconscious early Tuesday morning by an assailant who escaped.

The victim, William Oderwald, 20, of 123 1903 Hall, was later reported in good condition at Princeton Hospital. He was to be moved later to the university infirmary. Chief Peter J. McCrohan reported that it is as yet unknown if anything was actually taken from Mr. Oderwald's office.

As reconstructed by Chief McCrohan, Mr. Oderwald was in his office around 3 a.m. when he heard a noise outside. He locked his door and went to investigate. Moments later he was struck from behind, the blow causing a severe head concussion. He was unconscious for three hours.

Proctors Called. Around 6 a.m. he regained consciousness and managed to crawl to his office and open the door. He

Intime's Production of "Frogs" Is Rated as Good, Bawdy Fun

For the many readers who wrote me in response to my suggestion of last November that someone should mount a musical production of "Frogs" (actually, there were two letters, both unsigned, but one was tooth marked and pink tinged), I can happily recommend that Theatre Intime has listened to the wisdom of the critic and produced a witty, clever and altogether delightful evening. "Frogs!" (Repeated this weekend at Hamilton Murray Theatre) is a nifty version of Aristophanes' play which older readers may remember under its older, more sedate title, "Frogs." This production is a real toe-tapper; I left whistling a few of the tunes, notable "The Croaking Chorus" and "Dionysiac Rag." I predict that they soon will be hopping to the top of the charts.

It is important to note here that though the book and lyrics are understandably from an earlier time, the current wave of nostalgia puts us in a responsive mood. Updated with interpolations from the modern composers we swing to (Bach, Handel, Ger. shwin), this production, despite its lack of topicality (no drugs, nudity, or intrusive sexual abnormality), reminds us of the good old days when a god was a god, and not a super star.

Good, bawdy fun here, with a Busby Berkeley touch (a ring of frogs in goggles and flippers) that makes antiquity an easy thing to take. (More of this and the classics may revive.) Even though I missed the earlier version of the Aristophanes play on which this is based, I do feel that little can be lost in this modern frogginess. It is, in short, a baffo success.

Marching Orders. Having often wished to tell the Princeton audience to go to hell in one way or another, I can now do so with complete confidence that they will enjoy the trip. They ought to take the children, too. (A matinee is sched. uled, I believe.) What will they find? Charon in a motorboat, singing marvelously. Dionysus in full, fatty bower, Accus growling about, sharpening his trident. An intense battle of the playwrights: Aeschylus, glowering pompously; Euripides, as an antique Erich Segal (One can hear him saying, "I cried when I wrote 'Electra'"). And a marvelous angel chorus led by Doreen Spitzer in high top sneakers and Breithoven sweat shirt. Go! Go! Go! (There are cheerleaders, too, and the audience is divided into teams. My man lost.)

Low Brow Fare. It is fun. And intelligent. Aristophanes was our first literary critic, and perhaps the last good one: on the basis of "Frogs!" it would be difficult to find happier standards. It is a clearly vulgar evening, indecent and burlesque-ish, aimed at the criminal insipidity of intellectual posturing while establishing clearly the pleasure to be found in authentically nasty satire.

Farical and foolish. It is never flatulent. "Frogs!" blows the pollution away. To all of these, a resounding accolade of "Brekekekex coax coax": Dale Stulz, Arthur Miller (with and without his grass skirt); Ted Corson, Alastair Martin, Rush Rehm (Aeschylus), and Daniel Berkowitz (Euripides). To all the frogs, a nother "Brekekekex coax coax!"

To Donald Mathison, who directed, to Josiah Hatch (musical director), to Harry Klemfuss (tech director), to all of you: "Brekekekex etc." This production sets a high standard for imaginative staging, intelligent humor and amphibious delight. Take your favorite frog.

WELCOME "DUNDOR"

Dragon in Town. Princeton's young audiences may attend any — or all — of three per-

Dragon," the Street Theatre

In "Dundor," the Princess (Louise Arnold) finds that the only Handsome Young Prince willing to face the dragon is Yerd (Robert Little), who isn't very handsome but is terribly enthusiastic.

Dundor, who's been making all those ferocious noises, turns out to be a nice little dragon who is misunderstood (Adrienne Brockway).

Others in the cast are Chris Negus as the Jester; Steven Kolmes as the Page; Liz Hilst and Sue Christiansen as Handmaidens; Rip Pellaton as the Handsome Young Prince.

Anie Brockway is director, assisted by Deborah Bellow.

COMEDY IS CAST

By Community Players. The Princeton Community Players have announced the cast for their February production of Jean Anouilh's comedy, "Ring Around the Moon."

The double role of Hugo and Frédéric (twin brothers) is played by George Walthy. Bonnie Jacobs appears as Diana and Lador Cadley as Isabelle.

Others in the cast are: Herb Ammermuller, June Cawley,
Ray Behan, Anne Bredon, Liz
Fillo, Norm Friedman, Allan
Salkin, Rene Beaumont, Rick Grippukh, Rick Poole and Allan Harrison. Diane Tronibi is stage manager.

Director for "Ring Around the Moon" is Ed Earle, who has staged "All the King's Men," "Caucasian Chalk Circle," and "The Male Animal" for the Players in past seasons. A graduate of the University of Southern California, Mr. Earle first worked on Broadway in 1959 as understudy for the lead in "Dark at the Top of the Stairs." For the New York production of "Rouge of the Greasepaint," he understudied the Anthony Newley role. Mr. Earle directed, choreographed, and starred in the national tour of that play.

At McCarter and also at the Great Lakes Shakespeare Festival, Mr. Earle directed
"Richard III." For five years he was resident choreographer for the Lambertville Music Circus.

"Ring Around the Moon" opens Friday, February 18,
and plays Saturday, the 19th, Sunday, the 20th and Thursday, Friday, Saturday, February 21-25 and 26. All performances are in the Little Theatre of the Unitarian Church.

YEVTUSHENKO

At McCarter. The second visit to the United States by the Soviet poet Yevgeny Yevtushenko will include a second visit to Princeton.

The poet will appear at McCarter Theatre on Wednesday, February 2, at 8:30 p.m.
Tickets are now on sale.

McCarter will be the smallest auditorium in which Yevtushenko will read during his three week tour; he's been booked at Madison Square Garden and the Coliseum of the University of South Carolina. Last time he was in Princeton (1967), he read at Alexander Hall.

Yevtushenko will read in Russian. English translations will be read by the actor
Barry Boys.

GARDEN

The Railway Children (now playing) recreates Victorian atmosphere, costumes, settings, mannerisms — and attitudes. It is based upon a celebrated children's book of the time by Edith Nesbit.

The story concerns events in the lives of three small children whose father has been sent to prison on false charges.
Written in an era when the train was a fascination, there are a number of small events involving trains.

The children and their mother have to move because they are now "poor" and find a beautiful house in the country where they keep only one maid. (They had three maids before.)

It is a mild film with a sizeable era gap, but beautifully photographed. (108 min.)

PRINCE & LINCOLN

The Gang That Couldn't Shoot Straight (now playing) Jimmy Breslin's humorous book about an established gang leader and the inept upstart who tries to take things over translates nicely to the screen
if you don't look for plot.
Enough of Breslin's satire gets through that about every third scene is funny.

Robert DeNiro is excellent in the role of an Italian immigrant imported for a six-day bicycle race who is far more interested in peddling almost everything else. Jo Van Fleet is the archtype Italian mother, forever dangleing sweets before her adult children in order to make them listen. And Jerry Orbach, in the role of the upstart, is beautifully stupid.

IT'S NEW To Us

STRIP THE PAINT

At The Wood Shed. The chest of drawers painted pale blue for a baby boy looks odd now that he's 11. Your decorator friend has suggested that you paint the front door yellow, and the wooden chairs you found in the Englishtown flea market, she says, should match that fleck of green in the curtains. And there's really a rather nice inlay in that battered little table...

These and other small problems belong in The Wood Shed. You can, of course, strip off the paint at home and watch with horror and discouragement as the water rinse ripples the wood.

"Water is really bad news to glue," Richard H. Williams of The Wood Shed remarks. He is one of a handful of craftsmen in the nation who have the new "Chem-Clean" process. "We use no water. We can soak a piece of inlay or veneer for up to 48 hours if we have to and there's no problem."

The Wood Shed is a remodeled dairy barn on Bridgepoint

Road, off Route 206. Mr. Williams and his wife Vouletti have gone the route of a number of couples, changing careers in mid-life. Mr. Williams is a former vice-president of Gallup & Robinson, where he worked for 18 years, and former president of a division of Response Analysis.

"I took a year off for travel, photography, reading, and kind of thought about my life and times," he commented last week. "As an advertising and marketing researcher, you are the observer of somebody's efforts. With this, you are the doer. I like the direct contact with people."

Last January, he and his tall, attractive wife began to clear out the old barn. In May, they opened for business.

Customers are almost entirely householders, plus a few dealers. Most items are regular household furnishings, and The Wood Shed strips off the old paint. There is no water wash, caustic dip, bleach or heat used. The old piece emerges looking remarkably fine. You can then have a finish applied, or a colored lacquer applied, or finish it at home yourself.

"People leave things here for a week — unless it's their front door. We can do the stripping in a day if the customer is really hurting," Mr.

OUT IN "THE WOOD SHED" are Richard and Vouletti Williams, with an antique clock left by Schuster, Inc. of 20 Nassau to be stripped to the bare wood with The Wood Shed's unusual organic solvent and then finished a lustrous black.

Williams says. "Many of the pieces need no sanding after 1769.

The paint is removed because there is no water involved in the process. Water and the combination of heat and water will raise the grain," Mr. Williams says.

One section of the barn has a huge tank filled with the paint remover. The formula was developed by a friend of the Williamses, a former Hopewell resident named Roy Esposito about a year or so after he quit his job as a chemist at American Cyanamid and moved into making reproductions of furniture in Maine.

One night he soaked some knobs from an antique into an organic solvent and it stripped the finish in such a fashion that he realized he had evolved a better stripping process than any thing on the market. So it goes. There are now about 25 people franchised to use it.

"The idea of 'dunking' scares some people," Mr. Williams says. Pointing to a kitchen chair, he adds, "This we would just drench in solvent. The tough pieces we put in the tank. The finish is still on when we take it out. We remove it by hand with nylon pads and brushes.

"If a finish is wanted, there's a tremendous number of possibilities among the natural finishes where the good grain shows through.

"We're also doing a lot in the way of colored lacquers," Mr. Williams enthuses. "We have done some nondescript dining room tables with it and they have jumped out of the ordinary! We also did a player piano in blue lacquer. I can't wait to get a player piano. They're the cat's pajamas! We can also do metal like crazy..."

The Wood Shed has some furniture to sell, too. Odd pieces that Mr. and Mrs. Williams have picked up, stripped and finished. Among them the frame of an old rocker, chests and country-antique chairs with interesting tooling.

There's also a four-poster bed that belonged to a Spanish cardinal which they're selling in behalf of the owner. This they have not touched.

The gate on the head's end is pieces need no sanding after 1769. To reach The Wood Shed follow Route 206 north past the Montgomery Shopping Center, and go on the alert when you reach the bridge. Bridgepoint road is the second road on the right past the bridge. Then look for The Wood Shed about a quarter of a mile in on the left.

BIRNAM WOODS OPENS

A Hopewell, Tom Hanley is an artist who thinks like a painter. The framing studio that he and his wife Cynthia opened in Hopewell just before Christmas is named after the name to Birnam Wood in Shakespeare's "Macbeth."

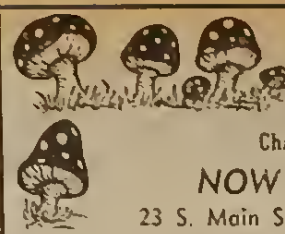

"It's like the impossible coming true," Tom says. The framing is the first step towards a rebirth of the Pre-Raphaelite blending of many talents.

Tom Hanley was a summer artist who was an assistant curator of the museum at Rutgers during his undergraduate years. He would like to develop more in fine arts. His wife is doing extraordinary wall hangings in macramé, as well as the usual belts and bags; and they have friends interested in painting, drama and printing.

"It's framing for the time being, but eventually Birnam Woods will be multimedia," Tom Hanley says with infectious enthusiasm. The major part of the shop is already a gallery where area artists are on exhibit. "I wish you'd say that we're very interested in showing local artists' work," he adds earnestly. "We are looking for more, especially the young artists who have such a hard time finding someone who will exhibit their work."

The Hanleys are yet another couple who have called a halt to the direction their lives were taking. They then traveled for about two years, ranging through Europe and the West Coast. Originally from Plainfield, they have known Hopewell for a long time, and after all their roaming, chose to root there last summer. "You know, New Jersey is really a great state. There's a lot here...and Hopewell is really beautiful."

Tom Hanley worked in the framing business in North Jersey, and brings with him not only expertise with the corner-cut saw, but also an artist's skill with "French matting," the drawing of beautifully delicate, straight lines at the inner edge of the matt board in different colors of ink that complement the painting or print. "You have a lot of leeway with French matting,"
he says.

In addition to a fine assortment of frames, Birnam Woods does 22-K gold leaf finishing and restoration of gold frames.

"I have a friend who is the East Coast representative for a framing manufacturer, and so I can offer as much as half price on the charges of most framers in the area,"
Mr. Hanley comments.

In addition to the French matting, a rare specialty for this area, Mr. Hanley will draw art borders in a tasteful way that look like a frame-within-a-frame. Samples are on view at the studio.

"Framing is, we hope, our bread and butter," the Birnam Woods artist says.
"There's so much we all want to do. You know, there are two places in Hopewell that used to be theatres...And we hope to get a magazine started... We'd like to have art classes here, not to compete with the Princeton adult classes, but to add to them..."

When you visit Birnam
Woods Studio at 10 Seminary Avenue, you'll see various oils, watercolors and graphics in the gallery area. Note too, the framing and the French matting. If you take advantage of the low framing prices, you may be contributing to a cultural renaissance in Hopewell.

called University proctors who found him lying in the hallway next to the student center, unconscious again.

He regained consciousness to the point where he was able to tell what had happened but by the time Ptl. William Hunter and Ptl. David Lewis arrived, after being called by the University Security Department at 3:56, Mr. Oderwald had slipped into unconsciousness for the third time.

Police said that the victim is employed as a night manager at the student center, in charge of the office and proceeds. He was taken by the Princeton First Aid Squad to the hospital where he was x-rayed and admitted.

Chief McCrohan reported that police have not located the instrument used to strike Mr. Oderwald. "Whatever it is, it's something heavy," he said. Mr. Oderwald told police that his attacker was alone.

Lt. Michael Carnevale also assisted in the initial police investigation. It is being continued by Det. Timothy Huizing.

RUNAWAYS RETURNED

After Theft and Arrest Here. Two 14-year-old runaways from Dover Township, a boy and a girl, were released to their parents last week following their arrest in Princeton.

The two were found sleeping in the U-Wash Laundry, 12 Witherspoon Street, around 1 a.m. Thursday by Ptl. David Lewis and Ptl. Ronald Holliday. They were charged with breaking and entering and larceny after police later discovered they had entered the Griggs Corner service station a block away through a rear door and taken $101.39 from a cash register, which they forced open. The money was found in their possession, police said.

Police added that the pair also admitted taking the keys to the station and trying to steal a locked car. They failed in that when they were unable to start it.

After being processed and charged by Borough police, the two were taken to the Youth House in Trenton to await the arrival of their parents. An investigation revealed that they had been missing several days from their homes.

HITS SIX PARKED CARS

Gets Drunk Driving Ticket. C. Evans Lawton, 62, 44 Nassau Street, was charged with drunken driving last week after he struck six parked cars in the Palmer Square lot next to the Princeton Playhouse.

According to police, Mr. Lawton entered the lot off Hulfish street at 6:40 last Tuesday evening. A line of parked cars was on his right. His car ran into the rear of four of them, pushing the last car in line into two more.

Then he made a sharp left turn, knocked down an eight-foot section of stockade fence and came to rest against a brick wall.

He was treated for minor injuries at Princeton Hospital and released, whereupon he was given a Breathalyzer test by the police. He was issued a summons by Ptl. Joseph Wilhelm.

$250 COAT STOLEN

From Richard Window. A white fleece-lined sheepskin coat valued at $250 was taken Tuesday afternoon from the showroom window of Richard's Shoes, 148 Nassau Street.

It was believed that a youth, accompanied by a girl, had removed the coat from the window and put it on over his jacket. They were last seen by a customer walking in an alley by the Garden Theatre. Sgt. Ralph Piacentino investigated.

ARREST BELLE MEAD MAN

For Borough Disturbance. A 21-year-old man from Ellis Drive, Belle Mead has been charged by Borough police with assault and battery, being drunk and disorderly and resisting arrest.

Daniel McComas is presently free on $250 bail to await a hearing Wednesday, January 19, in Borough court. He was released the next morning after his arrest when he made bail.

Ptl. William Hunter and Ptl. Ronald Holliday answered a 12:30 a.m. Friday call, reporting that someone was creating a disturbance outside the Chestnut Street Firehouse. When the officers arrived, they allegedly found McComas in a drunken state in the middle of the roadway, trying to hitch a ride.

FIND 15 PELLET GUNS

Police Charge Two. A 53-year-old man and a 15-year-old juvenile, both from Bordentown, have been charged with possession of firearms without a permit, after Borough police discovered a box of 15 pellet guns on the floor of their car last week.

Police identified the adult as Robert G. Stahl. He and the juvenile were stopped at 10:15 Friday evening on Stockton Street for a motor vehicle violation by Ptl. Gerald Patterson and Ptl. Kerry Klink. When the officers noticed the guns, they brought the two to headquarters for questioning.

Chief Peter J. McCrohan reported that the pair were unable to produce a permit or a satisfactory explanation of where they had gotten the guns, which he described as dangerous. He said that they told him they had purchased them from a man named Frank at an auction sale near Somerville.

Police are continuing their investigation. Chief McCrohan added that there will probably be other charges if the investigation is successful in uncovering the origin of the guns.

TWO FACE HEARING

On Drug Charges. Two Princeton area men face a hearing in Borough Court, following their arrest last week for drug violations.

Arrested on Nassau and Witherspoon Street by Ptl. David Alston were Benjamin Rush, 20, 448 Walnut Lane, and Robert J. Levinskis, 22, 169 Washington Road, Rocky Hill. Rush has been charged with possession of a stimulant drug without a prescription; Levinskis with possession of marijuana.

Both were later released in their own recognizance. Police declined to discuss any of the details that led to their arrest.

Obituaries

Sheldon S. Myers, 54 chair man of the mathematics department of the Test Development Division of Educational Testing Service, died suddenly of a heart attack January 5 at Princeton Hospital. He lived at 11 Madison Street.

An expert on the development of standardized mathematical tests for almost all educational levels, Dr. Myers also was an authority on the history and philosophy of mathematical thinking. His lectures on such subjects took him to many high schools and colleges in the United States and abroad. He also served as a consultant to educators on mathematical test construction in South America and Africa.

He was a former president of the New Jersey section of the Mathematical Association of America, and served on the committee of the National Council of Teachers of Mathematics which, in 1959, drew up an influential report on the secondary school curriculum. Born in Norwood, Ohio, Dr. Myers received two bachelor's degrees and a master's degree from the University of Cincinnati and a doctorate from Ohio State University. He has been with ETS since 1955.

He leaves two brothers, Willie E. Jr., of Boise, Idaho, and John G., of St. Joseph, Michigan. A memorial service was held at Educational Testing Service with interment in Cloverdale Cemetery, in Boise.

Peter DeMauro Sr., 85, formerly of Princeton, died January 5 in Holy Cross Hospital, Fort Lauderdale, Fla. He was one of the founders of an on-campus student employment program at Princeton University during the early 1920's.

Born in Italy, Mr. DeMauro came to this country in 1912 and started work in the University's shoe sales and repair shop on the campus. He operated the store until his retirement in 1947.

He helped to start a student employment program in the library, University Store, tailor shop and other campus places, enabling poorer students to earn money.

Surviving are his wife, Johanna S. DeMauro; three sons, Dr. Peter DeMauro Jr., of Princeton, Michael J. DeMauro of Memphis, Tenn., and Daniel DeMauro of Fort Lauderdale.

Mrs. Mary W. Valentine, 45, formerly of Hopewell, died January 5 in Williamsburg, Va.

A native of Hopewell Township, she resided in Williamsburg for the past three years and was employed by Colonial Williamsburg.

Surviving are two daughters, Cynthia Lee and Kimberly Ann, and two sons, Robert W. and David M., all at home; a sister, Mrs. Julia King of Ridley Park, Pa., and five brothers, Victor Wesloski of Pennington, John Wesley of Lake Worth, Fla., James Brant of Santa Rosa, Calif., Tad Wesloski of Orange, Calif., Callie and Tom Wesloski of Swarthmore, Pa.

Dr. Harold E. Roberts, 87, of 134 King George Road, Pennington, died January 9 in

Fund Tops $4,500

Contributions to the 25th annual appeal for the TOWN TOPICS' Christmas Fund have reached $4,583.37.

Gifts were received from scores of residents throughout the Princeton area, as well as from former Princetonians now living elsewhere. Business firms made collections for the Fund from their employees, the money sent in some cases representing sums which would have been spent on Christmas cards.

Since the first appeal was made in 1947, more than $81,000 has been raised for those in need in this community. TOWN TOPICS and the Family Service Agency administer the Fund without cost, so that every cent contributed is used for charitable purposes.

Norwood Convalescent Home, Chestnut Hill, Pa., after a lengthy illness. He was a dentist and former athlete.

Born in Germantown, Pa., Dr. Roberts lived in Pennington for many years. He maintained a practice in Philadelphia until about a year ago.

He was a graduate of Germantown Academy in 1903, the University of Pennsylvania in 1907 and the University of Pennsylvania Dental School. During his school years he was a noted athlete in both football and crew. He received many medals for his athletic activities.

Husband of the late Hope LeB. Roberts, he is survived by a niece, Mrs. Aileen Lotz of South Miami, Fla.

A graveside service was held in Ewing Church Cemetery, the Rev. Walter R. Coats of Pennington Presbyterian Church officiating. Contributions may be made to German town Academy.

MEMORIAL SERVICE SET

For Those Who Died in '71. The 36 members of Princeton University, including members of the faculty, administration, staff, student body and the trustees, who died during 1971 will be memorialized at the annual Service of Commemoration Sunday at 11 a.m. in the University Chapel. The Princeton community is invited to attend.

Ernest Gordon, Dean of the University Chapel, who is Chairman of the Committee on Arrangements for the service, will give the memorial address. Serving on the committee with Dean Gordon are Richard A. Lester, Dean of the Faculty; Prof. Jeremiah S. Finch, Secretary of the University, and Anthony J. Maruca, Executive Director, Administrative and Personnel Services.

Participants in the service will include President Robert F. Goheen; David A. Jones '72, of Detroit, Mich., President of the Undergraduate Assembly; and Professor L. Carl Brown, Garrett Professor of Foreign Affairs, Department of Near Eastern Studies.

Irresponsibility Charged.

To The Editor of Town Topics:

It has been barely two months since the end of a hard-fought campaign, and, already, the promises are falling by the wayside. On Monday, January 3rd, the annual reorganization meeting of the West Windsor Township Committee was scheduled for 8 pm in Township Hall. The chosen date, time and place conflicted with the monthly meeting of the Township Conservation Commission, and Conservation Commission members were not informed of the Committee's intention to displace them.

Such action was not really surprising. It is characteristic of the low regard in which the Township Committee has held the Conservation Commission since its formation only a year ago.

But during the campaigns of the newly-elected Township Committeemen there were a lot of promises made, and many actively involved and concerned W. Windsor residents were led to believe that there would be some changes despite the fact that the Township remained under one party rule for what can now be counted in generations. But the new Committee has been sworn in, and the rhetoric as well as the actions are the same.

Mayor Firman's opening charge to the new Committee men was that they should not be swayed by groups of vocal citizens, as they do not necessarily represent the thinking of the Township. This is the same man who stated at candidates' night during his campaign two years ago, "I don't know about you, but when someone pushes me to do something, that's when I slow down." There was obviously no change in the rhetoric.

Then followed the list of appointments to the various official boards and committees. Committeeman Walter had reacted with apparent concern, indeed with fury, during his campaign to citizen questions and expressions of dismay over the number of obviously political appointments to these bodies. Last year had been a particularly bad year for such appointments. It began with the Conservation Commission appointees, most of whom showed so little interest in their appointments that the Commission rarely reached a quorum.

These were followed by two appointments to the Zoning Board. The first appointment went to the next door neighbor of the District 7 Republican Committeewoman, Royden Cowan, who never appeared for a meeting, and a short time after his appointment moved from the Township. He was followed by the appointment of David Freeman whose story is similar. After the Zoning Board "appointments", the Republican Campaign Manager was appointed to the Planning Board. He had been actively involved as a member of the Planning Board Advisory Committee for only a short time. He was certainly no more qualified than many of the other members of that Committee, but he was appointed to the Board ahead of qualified Advisory members who were his seniors in terms of length of service.

Truly, one would think that there could be no place but up after a record like this — Wrong. Like the rhetoric, the actions remained the same; Warren Wagner was appointed to the Planning Board, having never served on the Planning Board Advisory Committee for one reason or another, and over the heads of several well-qualified members of that Committee who have given a great deal of time and energy to that position. Arthur Kahn, Ingrid Reed and Gene McDermott, to name a few.

Now, I do not know Mr. Wagner; he is probably a very nice person, and he may even be concerned about the development of the Township. But that has very little to do with his qualifications to make rulings on the Planning Board, the single board with the most power to shape the development of the Township. It takes a great deal of time and training to become qualified to assess the plans and designs of professional architects, planners and engineers. For this reason, unless an appointee is himself a professional in the field, it is imperative for Planning Board appointees to serve time on the Advisory Committee and develop their skills and working knowledge of the Township's land use ordinances.

Once improperly developed, land is forever a burden and an unnecessary cost to the tax payers, and development in West Windsor is proceeding at far too rapid a pace to risk placing Planning Board decisions in the hands of untrained appointees. I am, therefore, not only disappointed by the continuation of this appointment policy, I am shocked at the irresponsibility of our elected officials.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We are two concerned students at Princeton High School who are opposed to the idea of a sewer running along Stony Brook between Stockton Street and Rosedale Road.

We both use this area for hunting, fishing and many other outdoor activities. We are two of the many who use this

We understand that a 50-foot swath of trees is to be cut to make room for the machinery to lay the pipe. In many places, this would destroy all the woods between the low water levels and the property lines causing an eye sore.

Without the trees, the earth might not be held back, thus washing tons of silt into Stony Brook and Lake Carnegie. This would make the present dredging operation useless. These trees, predominantly oak, provide a large source of food for the local wildlife and also a protective cover.

When we were younger, we "lived" down at the brook from the time school was over until dark. Many happy hours were spent catching snakes, watching baby bunnies, stalking deer and listening to the sound of bird calls.

Many times, to our Mothers' dismay, we would come home laden with anything we could get our grimy hands on. We would like to have this area preserved for future Thoreaus.

Carry On Recycling.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Conservation Coalition did a fine job in awakening us to the possibilities of recycling. Now it is up to us to go on.

In Denver and in Lake Forest rows of bins have been set up in convenient places such as near supermarkets and town halls where people can toss their bottles, papers,

Meet Candidate Allen

Instead of going to voters' houses to drink coffee, Township school board candidate Ted Allen is inviting voters to his house to drink his coffee.

Mr. Allen will hold two "open houses" at his home, 310 Jefferson Road, for all residents who want to meet him and talk about schools. "Open House" times will be next Friday, January 21 and Friday, January 28 from 7:30 to 10:30 p.m.

Voters who can't attend the open houses are invited to telephone Mr. Allen each Thursday after 7 p.m. at 924-9106.

etc., at their convenience. People with small kitchens and no station wagons cannot wait a month to dispose of such stuff.

Local organizations such as Boy Scouts etc. then take care of the bins and keep the proceeds of the sales for their organizations. Government might facilitate finding locations, builders might donate the bins.

This would not add taxes and might reduce the requests for funds which pour in daily from deserving organizations. Bins on the campus might prove a gold mine to the Student Employment service.

Girls Need Recognition, Too.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

When discussing the 1971 High School sports record you should give some recognition to the varsity teams that are ignored in weekly reports but did have winning seasons this year. Namely, the girls basketball, lacrosse, and field hockey teams. (The hockey team won the State Sectional Tournament as high as rules permit them to go.) As a matter of fact that is, I believe, the third year in a row when their sports have had winning seasons.

It might be nice if these hard working teams were considered as news worthy as the girls tennis and track teams. The basketball team, in particular, has a star, Denise Craig, who last year consistently outscored any of the boys!

titled "Cultural Anthropology" taught by Dr. David W. Crabb, Associate Professor of Anthropology at Princeton and the first Director of the University's Program in Anthropology.
His interests have been largely in the field of African languages and the reconstruction of history and population movements within Africa from the study of contemporary unwritten African languages and was in fact the first teacher of Swahili at Columbia University while pursuing his Ph.D.
there.

He has been engaged in field work in the West African Language Survey in Ogoja Province in what was then the

he has continued an informal affiliation with the Universities of Ibadan and Nsukka in Nigeria.

His class will be a study of the meaningful cultural components and systems of the past and the present in both exotic and familiar settings.
He will attempt to demonstrate how far our civilization has come from the Stone Age.
The required text for this course is "Every Man His Way," by Alan Dundes.

Another aspect of our culture will be explored in a class entitled "Jazz," given by John S. Wilson who has been the Jazz critic for the New York Times for the past 20 years as well as writing for High Fidelity Magazine. He was the producer - narrator of The World of Jazz for WQXR in New York from 1951-1970 and is currently the producer of such a program for Voice of America.

ers and France, respectively, and talk about her experiences.

Mikael Waiivaara, Rhys O'Leary, and Lorelle Harker, this year's AFS international scholars attending Princeton Day School and Princeton High School, will also be present.

Helping with the program will be the nominees for the 1971 Americans Abroad programs, Denise Boyer and Sarah Jane Lithgow from the high school, and Trudy Prescott and Ellen Fisher from the Day School. Punch, coffee and cookies will be served before the program, which will begin at 8 p.m.

IT'S BACK TO SCHOOL
For Senior Citizens. Because the Senior Citizen Back-to-School program was a success in early December, the Princeton Regional School district is again inviting them to luncheon in the cafeteria at the John Witherspoon School, Walnut Lane, on Thursday, January 27, at 1:15.

The menu for the luncheon, which is being planned and prepared by Mrs. Barbara Hurley, Director of Food Services for the school system, and her staff, will include Salisbury steak, baked potato and green beans. There will be a charge of $1.

Those attending may again tour the building and visit classes. Students from the Home Economics Department of Princeton High School, under the direction of Mrs. Nancy Arcamone of the PHS Home Economics faculty, will serve as hosts and hostesses. Reservations must be made no later than Friday, January 21, by calling the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross at 924-2404. Requests for transportation will be taken at the time of making reservations. Volunteer drivers will pick up guests at their homes and take them home after the back-to-school program.

The invitation is extended to all senior citizens within the greater Princeton area, but transportation can only be provided to residents of Princeton Borough, Princeton Township and West Windsor Township. Since reservations are limited, those interested in attending should call the Red Cross as soon as possible.

SENTENCES SUSPENDED
In Borough Court. Two Princeton area residents received suspended sentences

Absent Election Day?

Absentee ballots for the Feb. 1 school board election are available for voters who will be unable to vote in person. Application forms are available at the schools' Stony Brook Administration Building on Stockton Street, and must be obtained by Monday, January 24.

Voters may vote absentee if the nature of their jobs and the hours they have to work make it impossible to go to the polls; or if they are physically incapacitated (pregnancy is included in this definition); or are students away at school or observing a religious holiday.

last week in Borough criminal court.

Judge Theodore T. Tams Jr. placed George Gilbert, 22, 448 Walnut Lane, on one year's probation, after he suspended a 60 day sentence to the Mercer County Workhouse. Gilbert had pleaded guilty to possession of narcotic paraphernalia last November on Chambers Street.

Cameron L. Downey, 19, of Twin Rivers was given a six months suspended sentence and placed on a year's probation for carrying a concealed weapon. Judge Tams also fined him $50 and $10 court costs.

MEET YOUR CANDIDATES

For School Board. All seven candidates running for election to the Princeton Regional Board of Education on February 1 have been invited to attend the next three Thursday afternoon coffees sponsored by the Princeton High School PTA.

Mrs. James E. Ward, PTA president, has asked candidates to the informal 3 p.m. coffee hours in Room 148 this Thursday, January 13, and January 20 and 27.

Parents are urged to attend the coffee hours and to talk with the candidates, who are T.C. Allen, Philip A. Cruickshank, Winthrop S. Pike, Barbara Schleyer and Frank Wells, all vying for a pair of three-year Township seats, and Eric Craig and Kathleen Edwards, who are opposing each other for the single Borough opening.

Thursday coffee hours are held regularly throughout the school year for parents and staff under the PTA Chairmanship of Mrs. Russell Davison, Mrs. John McLusky and Mrs. Alfred Green.

DINNER DANCE PLANNED

To Benefit Byrd Fund. Plans are being made by the Elizabeth Taylor Byrd Fund for its Tenth Annual Dinner Dance to be held at the Greenbrier Inn on Route 1 on Saturday, February 26 at 7 p.m.

The fund committee offers scholarship aid to deserving Princeton High School graduates who plan to continue their education. June 1971 graduates who received aid totaling $3,200 from the group were: Miss Marsha Smith, Florida Presbyterian College; Daryl Boone, Rutgers University; Richard Jackson, Delaware State College; Barbara Brooks, Livingston College; Althea Spruill, and Lisa Yates, Cheyney State College; Kevin Vernon, Mercer County Community College; and Lawrence Parker, Elizabeth City State University.

Officers and members of the committee are: Mrs. James Briscoe, president; Mrs. Floyd Campbell, vice president; Mrs. John Brown, recording secretary; Mrs. George Geary, corresponding secretary; Robert A. Ellis, Jr., treasurer; Mrs. Floyd Campbell, program chairman; Mrs. Alexander Hoagland, scholarship chairman; Mrs. Robert Wright, finance chairman; Mrs. Frederick Burrell, membership chairman; John Broadway, Wilbert Brooks, Miss Virginia Euell, Lamont Fletcher, Mrs. Raymond P. Male and James Ward.

PEOPLE In The News

Paul N. Ylvisaker, Cranbury Neck Road, Cranbury, will be one of three panelists discussing "The Social Responsibility of Business" during the three-day "White House Conference on the Industrial World Ahead: A Look at Business in 1990" projected for Feb. 7-9 in Washington.

One of the nation's foremost urban affairs practitioners, Mr. Ylvisaker is now Professor of Public Affairs and Urban Planning at Princeton University. He joined the faculty in September 1970 after serving as New Jersey's Commissioner of Community Affairs.

Ylvisaker said today that he planned to center his remarks on the need for a "new kind" of corporation which will be capable of working successfully in cooperation with government on the problems of the nation's central cities. He said he was doubtful whether the nation's business firms today can be expected to take on the more costly problems facing the urban core areas.

Susan Taylor, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Edward C. Taylor, 228 Western Way, is one of several hundred students at Cornell College, Mt. Vernon, Iowa, involved in various independent study projects between semesters. Her project will center on ecological investigations in the Chiricahua Mountains of Arizona.

Durant W. Robertson Jr., 33 Maclean Circle, Murray Professor of English at Princeton University, is the author of "Abelard and Heloise" which will be published January 27 by Dial Press. It is the fifth volume in Dial's new series, "Crosscurrents in World History" — a series whose books simultaneously illuminate a great event and portray a great personality.

Abelard, a brilliant medieval philosopher, and Heloise the girl he seduced, is the basis for one of Western Civilization's greatest legends. With a fresh scholarly eye, Prof. Robertson views the known life of Abelard — there is, in reality, considerably mystery and controversy about the pair — and offers an original solution to the puzzle of the letters between them.

Born in Washington, D.C., Prof. Robertson received his Ph.D. from the University of North Carolina where he also taught. He has also been a member of the faculties at the University of Maryland and at Yale.

Dr. Joseph P. Zawadsky, 661 Prospect Avenue, has been appointed an associate professor in the Department of Surgery at the Rutgers College of Medicine and Dentistry. He will also be Chief of the section of Orthopaedic Surgery at Raritan Valley Hospital at Green Brook, the school's primary teaching hospital.

In private orthopaedic practice in New Brunswick since 1964, Dr. Zawadsky is attending orthopaedic surgeon at Middlesex General Hospital and St. Peter's General Hospital in New Brunswick. He holds the same position at the Vanderbilt Clinic, Presbyterian Hospital, and Columbia Presbyterian Medical Center in New York.

A 1951 graduate of Princeton, Dr. Zawadsky received his medical degree from Columbia University's College of Physicians and Surgeons. He completed his internship at Columbia - Presbyterian Medical Center, and his residency at the New York Orthopaedic Hospital in the Columbia-Presbyterian Medical Center in New York.

Kenneth P. Wilson, 160 Meadowbrook Drive, has been honored as a professional conservationist at the annual meeting of the New Jersey Association of Soil Conservation Districts.

Until his retirement in 1970, Mr. Wilson had made a career in the field of soil and other natural resources conservation. He joined the New Brunswick office of the U.S. Department of Agriculture Soil Conservation Service in 1935 as assistant soils expert. After similar jobs in Pennsylvania and Maine, he returned to this state in 1942 as assistant soil scientist.

In 1960, he was made state soil scientist and headed survey operations until his retirement.

Robert D. Best of 73 West Long Drive, Lawrenceville, has been elected a director of Nadeau Looms Inc. of Providence, R.I., a manufacturer of hand loom and weaving supplies. Mr. Best has been a vice-president of Opinion Research Corporation and earlier was associated with the University of Chicago Industrial Relations Center.

Tiger Five Upsets Penn to Earn Shot at Ivy League Championship

Princeton's constantly surprising basketball team made national headlines this week for the third time in a month when it upset Pennsylvania, 69-56, Tuesday night before a capacity crowd in Jadwin Gymnasium. The Tigers' third triumph this season over a nationally-ranked quintet was their most notable in that it will give them a shot at the Ivy League title and automatic participation in the NCAA Tournament. Vital road games remain, however, at Penn (January 29) and the following week at Dartmouth and Harvard.

Prior to its meeting here with the Quakers, Princeton had rallied strongly in the second half to top Harvard, 74 to 67, on Friday and the following night took an early lead over Dartmouth, ran in front by as many as 24 points in the second half, eventually settling for an 84-73 triumph (For the story on Tuesday's game with Penn, see page 31.)

No better than 34% from the floor and 63% on the line in the first half, the Tigers trailed Harvard by as many as eight (31-23) and would have been in much deeper trouble had the Crimson been able to maintain control of the action. As it was, 30% shooting by the visitors gave the Orange and Black a hand, and came back efforts cut the deficit at the intermission to 35-31.

A no nonsense approach to the problem at hand was apparent on Princeton's part at most as soon as action resumed. In the first four and three quarter minutes, Coach Pete Carril's operatives outscored

RIMOL, UNCONTESTED: Andy Rimol, Tigers' 6-9 center, had no trouble hitting on this layup against Harvard. Second-half rally won for Tigers, 74-67, after they trailed, 35-31 at the half. (Pete Lafen Photo)

Harvard, 17 to 8, earning a 48-43 lead. The next nine minutes saw the Tigers work methodically to double that margin (64-54) and it was adequate despite some sloppy play in their backcourt during the final 2:40.

Tigers in Charge. Five ball control blended with patience to work for the good shot wrote Princeton's success story in the second half. The victors were credited with a gaudy 71% field goal average on 17 for 24 shooting, held Harvard to 40% and were charged with only four turnovers to 10 for the Crimson.

Tighter guarding of sophomore Jim Fitzsimmons, Harvard's high scoring transfer from Duke, also paid off. Able to make 17 points in the first half, he was held to four in the first 17 minutes of the second, with much of the credit going to Reg Bird.

Fitzsimmons led all scorers with 29, Brian Taylor pacing Princeton with 28. Captain Al Duffy, who joined Taylor with 14 was the only other Tiger in double figures.

Harvard lost what chance it had of achieving an upset when it failed to contest a Princeton freeze that began with eight minutes left. Despite the fact that it had only three team fouls, the Crimson refused to come out to meet the Tiger ball handlers, who repeatedly erased close to a full minute from the clock before converting pin point passing into field goals.

Dartmouth Is Disappointing. Even more so than Harvard, which fields a number of highly capable players, Dartmouth failed to come close to obtaining maximum performance from its team. Jim Brown, averaging better than 21 points, was held to 4 in the first half. Paul Erland, who led the Ivies in scoring last winter with a 26 point average, made only 13 and spent a fair amount of time on the bench.

Bill Raynor, the Indians' sophomore guard who was touted as pairing with Brown to give the Green a backcourt combination the equal of Taylor and Ted Manakas, had 17 points but needed 16 shots to make six field goals. Dartmouth's team average of 35% was a major factor in its downward slide, which has seen it lose four of its last five after winning its first four.

Unlike the Harvard game, Princeton moved out early on the Indians, who led once at 4:3 but never again. From a 17-11 advantage, the Tigers outscored the visitors, 21-7, over a nine minute stretch and when the halftime horn sounded, they were in front by 41-26.

Before the final period was more than eight minutes old, Princeton was in front by 64-40. At 16:55, it was still up by 20 points (81-61) but when Carril cleared his bench and Dartmouth coach George Blaney left most of his regulars in, the losers pared nine more points off the Tigers' margin in the last three minutes.

Taylor led all scorers with 24, Manakas contributed 8 for 14 shooting to add 16 points and sophomore John Berger had the best game of his brief career with 15. Duffy's 13 raised his season's average to double figures as he continues to wear the captain's role well — particularly for a player who rarely started in his first two years.

Andy Rimol ran into problems both nights, especially against Dartmouth. The Indians' Jim Masker outplayed the Tiger sophomore consistently, hitting for 13 points, well above his average while holding Rimol to 6.

SKATERS LOSE TWO MORE

To Dartmouth and RPI. Few teams welcome the mid-winter exam break, but for Princeton hockey, it may be just as well that the next game will not be played until the night of January 22, when Colgate comes to Baker Rink. The New York sextet was the only victim of the Tigers last winter, and possibly its arrival here will make a turn-around possible.

The Orange and Black's last two outings dropped its record to 2 and 10, the last nine defeats coming successively. It has been more than a month since Princeton topped Army in a 5-4 overtime game in Baker Rink.

At Hanover Saturday, the Tigers found that Bill Quackenbush's decision to juggle his lines increased their offensive firepower but that their defensive difficulties remained unchanged. They scored five times against Dartmouth to match their best total of the season, but allowed six goals — far too many to count on victory.

TAYLOR, ALL ALONE: One Dartmouth player, all but screened out in the picture, provided what little opposition Brian Taylor got after a steal in the game against the Indians. He added 24 points to his total and if he maintains his 26-point average, will join the exclusive 1,000-point club in early February. Only Bill Bradley has done so as a junior. (Pete Lafen Photo)

No worse than 1-all at the end of the first period, Princeton trailed 3-1 after two and then began an uphill battle to draw even. The home team led by scores of 3-2, 4-2, 4-3, 5-3 and 5-4 before the Tigers got the game's tenth goal at 14:58. With 2:40 to go, however, the Green beat goalie Phil Robinson for the sixth time, handing Princeton its third Ivy loss in as many starts.

The new line centered by sophomore Walt Snickenberger with John Hepburn and Paul McNamara on the wings scored three times, Hepburn getting two goals and Snickenberger one. Roger Kyle, moved up from defense to a forward position, responded by providing the other two. Defensively, however, the Tigers remain well below par for the calibre of skating that this squad has, and they are now looking back to February, 1970, to pinpoint their last triumph in Ivy play.

Action at the top of the league took a new but not altogether surprising turn over the weekend when Harvard replaced Cornell at the head of the standings. The Crimson defeated the defending champions, 6-4, at Cambridge Saturday and will play them again at Ithaca on February 19.

Monday night at Troy, N.Y., Rensselaer Polytech scored four goals in the first period and two more in the last, coasting to a 6-0 triumph. On two occasions, the home team beat goalie Ed Swift twice within 30 seconds. The white wash was Princeton's first of the season.

HUN FIVE SPLITS

For 2-5 Mark. The Hun School basketball team divided two contests last week, defeating winless Perkiomen, 62-41, on Friday, and losing earlier to Hamilton High School, ranked second in Mercer County. The Hamilton score was 81-61.

The Perkiomen contest was the more important one from Hun's viewpoint, however, because the victory left the Red and Black with a 1-0 record in its division of the Penn-Jersey League — tied with Pennington School. Hun was scheduled to play rival Princeton Day School this Wednesday afternoon at 3 at the Hun gym.

Hun will take to the road twice next week. It will be at George School in Newtown, Pa., Friday for a 3:15 game — the Cougars are winless in league competition — and at Lawrenceville School next Wednesday afternoon. Starting time against the Larries is 3:15.

Against Perkiomen, Peddie transfer Kevin Tylus and sophomore Biff Hollowell, who have consistently been the one-two punch of the Hun attack, again turned in sterling performances. Tylus led all scorers with 22 points, while Hollowell added 16. Both scored all their points from the floor.

double figures. Hun put the game away in the third period when it outshot the home team, 16-4.

"We've faced some pretty good competition the last three or four weeks," observed Hun coach Dave Leete, "but we're learning, we're starting to come along." Everyone played well against Perkiomen, he added.

Hun Outclassed. Earlier, Hun was no match for the Hornets of Hamilton High, who after their fine performance against top ranked Ewing Friday, climbed into second place in the county rankings.

Hamilton had a 66-37 hudge by the time the final period started. In all, ten players scored for Hun, led by Tylus' 14 and Hollowell's 12. Pete Jones and John Hillman, co-captains of the team, scored 7 each.

EWING HERE THURSDAY. Against Belaguered PHS, Ewing High School undefeated in basketball this year, ranked second in the state and working on a 13 game win streak, will invade Princeton High School Thursday afternoon for a 3-15 game.

There is a large sign on the home side wall of the PHS gym which reads, "Welcome to the Tigers' Den" and it is highly unlikely that the Little Tigers will do anything to offend their guests. The Little Tigers have no claws, having lost their last eight in a row - the most recent a 51-43 setback at the hands of Steinert High School.

BOBBY KING, 6-2 sophomore, is one of the starters on the PHS basketball team. His high this season is 16 points.

Ewing will do well to work up a sweat against PHS. The main questions should be how high will Ewing run up the score, and will PHS be led by a new coach. Athletic director Norman Van Arsdalen has reported that Friday, the day after the game, is the last day in which the school has to name a successor to Larry Ivan, who has announced his resignation.

The Little Tigers will be at Cedar Ridge High School Tuesday night.

Those two season long liabilities of PHS surfaced again Friday afternoon against visiting Steinert; namely, excessive fouling and poor shooting. The stats will show that PHS lost it at the foul line, Steinert sinking 15 of 20 free throws, while PHS was converting 75% from the charity line. Trouble was, Steinert was whistled for only four fouls during the entire game.

At one point in the third period, in which the Spartans outscored PHS, 19-7, mostly from the foul line, to reverse a 26-20 PHS halftime lead, Ivan commented disgustedly, "There's that foul line again."

Lid on for PHS. The fouls hurt, true, but PHS could have put Steinert away for keeps if a decent number of its shots dropped. It couldn't buy a basket. "We haven't given up anything but we haven't scored anything either," Ivan lamented.

He pointed out that the score stayed at 43-39, Steinert up, for 2:08. During that time, "we had nine shots at the basket and nothing went in." Only the long outside shooting of Tony Bailey, who hit for six baskets from the floor kept PHS in the game.

Bob Worn scored six points in the first half - his high for the season - and Bailey, Kent Bain, Dane Black and Bobby King all added 4 apiece to stake PHS to a 26-20 halftime lead. The home town fans spelled upset over the Spartans, who entered the game with a 5-3 record.

Steinert scored the first six points in the second half, however, to tie it up. Then, a long jumper from the floor by Rick Craynoek put Steinert ahead, 31-30, for the first time with 3:33 left in the period. The visitors never trailed thereafter.

Leon Robinson finished second in scoring for PHS with 8 points. Bain, Worn and King all ended with 6. Gary Williams, Craynoek and Wayne Hutchins all hit double figures for Steinert, Hutchins with a game high 15. Seven of those were free throws.

PDS SENTET BLANKED By Lawrenceville. The Princeton Day hockey team looked ahead to better times this week after a rough time in its last two contests, one of which it lost by a shutout. In the other, it had to settle for a tie, after losing a potential victory in the last second.

Lawrenceville blanked the Panthers 3-0, Saturday evening dominating the game. While, last Wednesday, a last second goal by the Cranford

Hockey Club gave it a 3-3 tie with the Blue and White.

This Wednesday afternoon at 4:30, PDS was scheduled to go against Princeton High School, coached by an old PCD alumnus Warren Baker. The Little Tigers have not seen much action to date, losing their only outing to Brick Township. Other scheduled games have not been played because of warm weather and other problems.

Coach Harry Rulon Miller was planning to start Dave Barach in the goal, as his only line up change.

Friday afternoon at 4:30 on its rink, PDS will meet the South Orange Canadians. A club team, South Orange's strengths and weaknesses are unknown. Last year, the Panthers rolled over the Canadians by scores of 9-0, and 8-0.

This year with a less experienced team, the Blue and White has been having its troubles, which mainly stem from its passing and controlling of the puck, according to Rulon Miller. Its record stood at 1-2-1, before the PHS contest.

In the Cranford game, PDS went ahead three times, but on each occasion let the visitors get the tying marker through a momentary let down.

Peter Lawson Johnston scored the first goal on a tip-in. Paul Funk and Bozz Woodworth were credited with assists. Lucien Yokana made it 2-1 in the second period, and Alex Laughlin made it 3-2 in the third on passes from John Lockette and John Gordon.

However, a 15 foot Cranford shot rolled off goalie John Boyd's glove with one second remaining to give the visitors a tie, they were happy to achieve, and not about to risk losing. The Cranford coach declined to play to an overtime period.

The Panthers played three periods of all out hockey against a strong Lawrenceville squad, that kept the puck in the PDS zone much of the night. The Larries scored once in the opening round and twice more in the second period.

Superb work by Boyd, who had 35 saves in all, thwarted further scoring by the winners. Rulon-Miller praised the work of Lockette and Laughlin as time-killers when PDS was a man short, and John Gordon for his play at defense.

LAWRENCE OVERCOME

By PHS Matmen. Getting three pins in the last four bouts, the Princeton High School wrestling team last week overwhelmed winless Lawrence High School, 46-4. The victory left the Little Tigers with a 2-1 dual meet record.

The competition will go up a notch Saturday when PHS will face Lawrenceville School. The match will be held in the PHS gym, starting at 2. It will go up even higher on Wednesday evening when PHS travels to Woodrow Wilson High School in Camden for an 8 p.m. contest. The latter will provide an excellent test as to how good the underclass-dominated PHS team is.

Lionel Hammond, 157-pounder for the Little Tigers and one of the smoothest wrestlers on the squad, got the first fall when he pinned Pat Snyder in 3:52. Angelo Arcaro was engaged in a wild and woolly match with the Cardinals' Frank Queenan until Arcaro caught the latter in a cradle near the edge of the mat. Time was 5:12.

Then after Wes McClain, marking his first dual meet appearance after recovering of a foot injury, scored a decision in the 178-pound division, Princeton's Mark Holcombe showed the lights to Lawrence's sophomore heavyweight, Ernest Rivero in 5:48.

Holcombs Sweep. It was a sweep for the Holcombe family as well. All three brothers on the team wrestled for the first time and all three won. Keith, a junior, gained an 8-3 decision in the 136-pound class; Mike, a sophomore, wrestling in his first varsity meet, decided Brian Murphy, 3-0, in the 123-pound class.

Andy Foltiny, the Little Tigers' skilled 98-pounder, got the night off when Lawrence forfeited. Foltiny is undefeated. In other matches, Andy Bolster (106), Phil Ebersole (115), Howie Heitner (141) and Bob Zinsmeister (148) all won decisions. Ebersole decided Tom Kramer, 9-2, to up his season's record to 6-0-1. The lone blemish is a tie in the North Hunterdon match.

"He hasn't lost at all; he's really come on this year," commented PHS coach Tom Murray of Ebersole. Ebersole is a sophomore and seems headed for a fine mat career. Arcaro, another sophomore, also drew praise from Murray for his performance.

PHS VS. DEMAREST

Saturday in Hockey. It's been a long season for the Princeton High School hockey team—not from losing but from inactivity.

The latest casualty was last weekend's game with Hun, which was cancelled because Hun was unable to practice at the Peddie rink for lack of ice. The game will be rescheduled but no date has been set.

Coach Eugene Doherty's sex-

tel will try to get things going Saturday when it plays host to Demarest in a 7:30 contest at the Princeton Day School rink. Wednesday, the Little Tigers will be at Beacon Hill. They were scheduled to play PDS this Wednesday.

Coach Doherty revealed that the team has been hit hard by the flu. As many as eight have been sidelined, including standout Steve Sanford. PHS is presently 0-1.

PDS FIVE WINS 2 MORE
Eyes State Tournament. Two

A PHS PIN IS 10 SECONDS AWAY: Seconds after this shot was taken, Princeton High School heavyweight Mark Holcombe pinned his counterpart from Lawrence High School in 5:48. Some 460 pounds were involved in the struggle. Holcombe, a senior, tips the scales at 220; Rivero, a sophomore, weighs 210.

more victories last week raised the Princeton Day basketball team's record to 5-1, putting the Blue and White in a the Group B division of the strong position to qualify for State Tournament.

The cut-off date for selection to the tourney is the end of January, and the Panthers' record should be good enough to qualify. Normally teams with records .500 or over are taken.

The competition will get tougher, however. This Wednesday, PDS was scheduled to meet Hun School at Hun. Although only 2-5 at the moment, Hun has played much tougher competition than PDS.

Friday afternoon 3 p.m., PDS will be at home to play

Bryn Athyn, which was 1-2 through games this past week end.

A 23 point performance one day and 25 the other by Mark Ellsworth led the Panthers to both their triumphs. Last Wednesday, Solebury fell victim by a 48-35 margin, as PDS took a 12-2 lead, and relied on its defense the rest of the way. Steve Bash and Carl Rosenberg had seven points apiece. On Friday, Moorestown was beaten for the second time, 57-48. The Panthers led 27-19 at the half and then had 22 points in the third quarter to open up a sizeable lead. After Ellsworth's 25 points, Bash had 10, Ron Webster, 9, and Rosenberg, 8.

CHAIRMEN NAMED

For Youth Tennis Group. Mrs. George Vaughn, Mrs. George Ferguson and Mrs. Edward McCabe Jr. have been named chairmen of the scholarship committee of the Youth Tennis Foundation of Princeton.

The main problem the committee will face in 1972 is to see that players who have advanced from beginners to the advanced classes will be able to obtain more intensive instruction as well as financial support for travel to tournaments.

With these goals in mind, a fund raising committee is being selected. Other committee chairmen who have been appointed for 1972 are: indoor program, Mrs. Orly Benjamin; boys tournament circuit, Mrs. Louis Baumer, Mrs. Melvin Schulman; N. J. district championship chairmen for 16 and 18 year olds, Mr. and Mrs. Leon Lapidus; tournament chairmen for 12 and 14 year olds, Mrs. Charles B. Strant, Mrs. David Flemming; transporter, Marshall Schmidt; transportation, Mrs. Henry Broad; trophies, Mrs. Blain Aldridge; hospitality, Mrs. Richard Strazza; housing, Mrs. Marshall Schmidt, Mrs. Newell Woodworth, ball boys, Mrs. Charles Mapes, Mrs. William Burchfield.

Anyone who is interested in serving on a committee should call Mrs. Akira Asano, 921-2182.

MRS. MOYER IS VICTIM

In State Squash Finals, Mrs. Leland Moyer of Pennington, the U.S. national champion in 1970, was just two points away Sunday from winning the New Jersey State Women's Squash Racquet Championship at the Pretty Brook Club.

It was not to be. In an exciting, 50 minute match, before all who could be packed into the tiny club gallery, Miss Marigold Edwards of Pittsburgh fashioned a stirring come-from-behind victory, 9-15, 10-15, 16-15, 15-12 and 15-6. For Miss Edwards, who recently won the Canadian title, it was her third straight N. J. championship.

After dropping the first two sets, and trailing 13-11 in the third, Miss Edwards rallied to tie and went on to win at match point with two finely aimed placements. The turning point came in the fourth set when Mrs. Moyer, ahead 10-7, lost the next five points and the match.

In the decisive fifth set, Miss Edwards won the first eight points from her tiring opponent. Both Miss Edwards, currently ranked No. 2 in the nation, and Mrs. Moyer plan to compete this year for the national championship, which will be held in February at the Merion Cricket Club.

In the consolation final, Mrs. Orly Benjamin of Princeton lost to Miss Betsy Habaleh of Burlington, 15-9, 13-15, 15-10, 15-7. Princeton University student Wendy Zaharko was ousted in the quarter finals.

COTTAGE CLUB, IVY GAIN

In Basketball League, Cottage Club and Ivy Inn posted wins last week to remain undefeated in the junior basketball league sponsored by the Princeton Recreation Department.

Cottage center Hugh Walter outscored the entire Cannon Club team when he connected for 17 points to lead his teammates to a 26-15 victory. Ron Ward, Cannon's scoring threat, led the losers with 10.

Ivy Inn dominated the boards and received 20 and 17 points respectively from Martin Gilvarg and Mike Fuschini to defeat Tower Club, 42-31. Gary Coluccio and Keith Phox combined to score 32 of the losers' 31 points but were unable to overcome Ivy's taller front line.

Cap and Gown placed five men in the scoring column to topple Quadrangle Club, 22-17. Dean Relehe and Rick Seiler combined for 15 of the 17 scored by Quadrangle.

In the senior division, Cap and Gown remained undefeated with a 41-26 win over Charter Club. The two big men on either team both hit for 10 points; the difference was Cap and Gown's Rob McPherson, who poured in 24 points. Cottage Club grabbed its first win by defeating Terrace Club, 40-27. Ken Bullock (14 points) and Tommy Moore (12) led the attack. Howard Brooks was high for Terrace with 9.

BOWLING NOTES

KFD Wins Rolloff. Kingston Fire Department won its rolloff last week with No. 3, two games to none, to capture first-half honors in the Tri-County Firemen's League.

When KFD won the first game by two pins, 813 to 811, the narrow margin seemed to take the wind out of No. 3's sails; KDF took the second game by 107 pins—843 to 736.

Scores reflected the pressure as Les Luck and Harold Davall led KFD with 196-178 and 174. Mike Kopliner (191) and Bill Davall (169-172) were high for No. 3.

Angelo Tamasi was high in the A League with a 223. Rolling a pair of 200 games were Joe Baldino, 218-219, and Bud Cavanaugh, 210-206.

Hesco Electric continues to lead in the standings with 67 points, followed by Rialto Barber Shop which has 60.

Tiger Garage grabbed first place after the first week of play in the second half of the Nassau League. It has six points; five others are bunched at 4-all.

Don Shinn of Crescents fashioned the high game of 224. Between 209 and 201 were Jim Shely, Nick Sciderati, Tom Skidmore and Bud Bosley.

The Blue Angles Hi-Y League began its second half with Jon Videbeck rolling 153-170. Ed Volz had 156 and Steve Kopp, 149.

Turkeys leads in the standings, followed by Hooks and Strikes.

Scores were up in the Business Women's League, where Betty Kleiber of Rocky Hill Inn rolled 68 pins over her average to fashion a 209. She also had a 165 for a 524 series.

Dall Forsyth of University Cleaners also rolled a 209. She added a 170 for a 520 series. Others: Carole Harris, 192; Marge Davison, 189; Kaye Carnevale, 183; and Lillian Burrough, 100.

Ten points separate the top seven teams in the 10-team league. Nini Chrysler has 60 and the lead. University Cleaners is second with 58. Balestrieri third with 56.

Tigers Trounce Penn with Near-Perfect Play

Princeton's basketball team trounced sixth-ranked Pennsylvania Tuesday night, 69 to 56, in what had to be the most satisfying triumph for Tiger fans since Jadwin Gym took its place on the athletic scene here three years ago.

Running in front of the tall and talented Quakers from the second-minute of the key Ivy contest, the Orange and Black brought the visitors' unprecedented winning streak in league action to an end. Not since its last game in the 1969 season had Penn been beaten by another Ivy team, a string that totalled 30 consecutive victories.

To achieve the triumph — one that was welded virtually without the services of flub-bitten Teddy Manakas — Princeton played near-perfect basketball. Among the Tigers' chief credits:

- A sizzling 60% field goal average (23 for 42), sharp in contrast to the humdrum 38% for which Penn had to settle.
- So accurate were the wheed-up Princetonians that of all those who took shots, a 5-for-10 performance by center Andy Rimol was the low percentage mark! Others: Brian Taylor, 6 for 10; Al Duffy, 3 for 5; John Berger, 7 for 12; and Reg Bird, 4 for 5.

- An edge in rebounding of 27 to 22, statistics which defy all the laws of basketball when a good team of average height faces a good team of superior height. During most of the game, Penn's shortest player was 6-5.
- Ball control that was good enough so that in a pressure-packed game, the Tigers were charged with only nine turnovers in the face of extreme all-court pressure from the losers as the tide began to turn steadily against them. At the foul line, only once did Princeton miss the first of a one-and-one opportunity, and at the end of the game, it had made 19 of 23 for 83%.

Tigers in Front Early. From a 34 deficit, the Tigers drew steadily ahead on fine shooting until they owned a 29-18 lead with 5:25 to go. At that point, Reg Bird picked up his third personal and Princeton went into a long stall that killed off most of the clock. The only points scored from there to the intermission went to Penn, which trailed at the half, 29-23.

Spectacular sidcourt shooting by sophomore John Berger was the principal highlight of the action-packed second half. His 5-for-6 performance, mostly from 25 feet out, broke the back of every rally Penn tried to mount.

The Quakers had drawn within 3 (41-38) when Princeton began the drive that sealed the outcome. From 6:35 to 18:18, the Orange and Black outscored Penn, 20 to 9, holding its biggest margin of the night — 65-50 — with 1:42 to go.

The Quakers' Bob Morse kept them in the ball game with 25 points, but fine defensive play by the Tigers held a pair of Penn starters — Corky Calhoun and Craig Littlepage — to a field goal apiece. In addition to his fine shooting, Berger bedevilled Phil Bankin-son, who has three inches on him, to a 5-for-13 performance and 12 points.

Taylor was high for the Tigers with 17, four others also hitting double figures: Berger and Bird, 15 apiece; Duffy 12 and Rimol 10. That sort of balance propelled Princeton into first place in the Ivy standings, and a sure berth in the nation's top 20 teams when the next wire-service polls are released on Tuesday.

PHS 1-POINT VICTOR

On Craig Robinson Basket. Sophomore Craig Robinson made one of the biggest shots of his young career Tuesday night when his jumper with 11 seconds remaining earned the win-starved Princeton High basketball team a thrilling 53-57 victory over home-town Morrisville. The victory was only the second for the Little Tigers this season.

PHS came from behind, as it outscored Morrisville, 21-16, in the final period. With three minutes remaining, the Little Tigers had cut the margin to four but were still down by one in the closing seconds to set the stage for Robinson's dramatic 15-footer. It was a satisfying farewell present for coach Larry Ivan who is scheduled to be replaced this week after submitting his resignation last month.

Tony Bailey led PHS, as usual, with 19 points. Kent Bain added 10, Bobby King 9, and Leon Gibson, who has come on after sitting on the bench for most of the season, had 7. Robinson's winning basket was his second of the night. He finished with 5 points.

TEN TEAMS ENTERED

In Adult Basketball League. The Recreation Department was hoping for four teams, six at the outside.

However, after a final organizational meeting with representatives Monday, ten teams will compete in the adult basketball league being fashioned under the sponsorship of the recreation department.

Plans call for two games to be played Tuesday night at 8 and 9 at the Princeton High School gym and three to be played the following night at 7, 8 and 9 at the John Witherspoon School gym. After that, all teams will continue to play once a week until March 8 when there will be a playoff for the championship.

R. Donald Barr, recreation director, said that the ten teams would be divided into two divisions. Teams in the

CARNEVALE ELECTED

As Chamber President. The Chamber of Commerce has announced the election of Nicholas L. Carnevale to president. Mr. Carnevale assumed leadership of the 236-member Chamber this month.

Executive Vice-President of Walter B. Howe, Inc. and a graduate of Rutgers University, he and wife, Gail are the parents of two sons. They are life long residents of the Princeton Community.

Also elected were: James T. Robson, senior vice-president; John Hoff, 3rd, Paul Orr, Jr., John Hartzell and John Lasley, vice-presidents; Arthur Everett, treasurer, Gustave R. Christie, Dr. Arnold J. Hirsch, Theodore Reed, Jonathan L. Thiesmeyer, Dr. William Webster and James Vlachos were named directors.

MAJOR GAINS REPORTED

At Princeton Savings. A gain of 37% in assets, 28% in total savings, and a substantial increase in mortgage lending, highlighted the first full year of operations in Princeton Savings' new headquarters on Nassau Street, according to William H. Boozer, Jr., president.

In his year-end report, Mr. Boozer pointed to a new record of $31,705,356 in assets as of December 31, a gain of $8,524,190 or 37% for the year. Savings increased to $27,678,944, a gain of $6,131,806.

"The popularity of our higher rate, longer term savings instruments accounted for much of the growth, as did our 6% regular savings accounts," he said. He noted that it was an excellent year for the Savings and Loan Business nationally, as assets topped the $200 billion mark, a milestone for the industry.

"Our dual role as a thrift and home financing institution exhibits itself in the $10,830,600 in mortgage loans closed during 1971," he added. "The housing market continues to be a primary force in the economic recovery, as we look forward to another year of vigorous, but perhaps slightly less dramatic growth at Princeton Savings."

"As the economy moves forward with increasing strength, the rate of savings will undoubtedly level off and then decrease. In accordance with the usual pattern in this period of the business cycle, the resultant higher rate of consumer spending will add further momentum to the recovery. However, ample mortgage money should be available throughout the year."

In 1971, Princeton Savings increased its reserve account to $1,494,874, and distributed $1,285,018 in dividends to its savers. On November 28, 1970, the Association moved its offices to 132 Nassau Street from facilities it had occupied since 1959 at 19 Chambers Street. Princeton Savings was founded in 1917.

AGENCY HEAD INDUCTED

Into Somerset Board of Realtors. William C. Gregg, Line Road, Montgomery Township, President of the Montgomery Agency, Belle Mead, has been inducted into the Somerset County Board of Realtors.

A resident of Somerset County since 1958, Mr. Gregg graduated from Harvard College and attended the Harvard Business School for two years. His other post graduate training included courses in public administration at American University in Washington, D. C. and real estate courses at Rutgers University, Rider College and Somerset County Community College.

He is publicity director for the Rotary Club of Belle

William C. Gregg

Mead and secretary of the Harvard Business School Club of Princeton.

Coincident with Mr. Gregg's induction, the Montgomery Agency became the 139rd real estate agency to join the Somerset County Multiple Listing System insuring county wide distribution for the listings placed with it.

$101,500 JUDGMENT WON

For Patent Infringement. A judgment of $101,500 has been awarded The Tile Council of America, Princeton, by the United States District Court for the Central District of California.

The decision upholds that of a lower court and affirms the validity and infringement of two patents for Dry Set mortar and grout, owned by The Tile Council, in its nine-year action against Ceramic Tiles Supply, Inc., Los Angeles, California, the defendants. Original action on the patent infringement was filed by The Tile Council against Ceramic Tiles in the United States District Court in February 1962.

Developed by The Tile Council at its Princeton Research Center on U.S. 1, Dry Set mortar consists of portland cement with sand and additives imparting water retentivity and other desirable characteristics. During the lengthy period of litigation the advantages of these products to the building trades of the United States were continually set forth in establishing patent credibility and ownership; nonflammability, excellence for interior and exterior work, eliminates need for pre-soaking of tile, and is easily cleaned with water. It also bonds to both floor and wall tile.

ROTC TO BE TARGET

Of Student Rally Saturday. Long after the war in Vietnam has ended, the debate over ROTC at Princeton University may still be raging.

Banished from the campus after the uproar over the sending of U.S. troops into Cambodia, ROTC has gotten firm support from many students and faculty members and may be reinstated on a limited basis.

However, there remains plenty of sentiment against any form of military training even as an extra-curricular activity and those opposed plan to hold a major demonstration this Saturday. At the time the University's Board of Trustees will meet to decide the fate of the controversial program.

With President Robert F. Goheen having stated his support for ROTC, the trustees are likely to approve its return.

About 200 students showed up at a noon rally Monday, carrying placards to present a petition signed by 1,123 members of the University community opposed to ROTC on any basis.

Dr. Goheen appeared personally to accept the petition, commenting, "I do appreciate and share the strong emotion which many of you have brought to bear on the ROTC matter because of American military involvement in Indochina."

"Nevertheless I think it's wrong to look at ROTC just through the eyes of the waste and devastation of Indochina."

Surround yourself with trees, grass and history.

There's plenty of all three on what may be the highest spot between New York and Philadelphia. Certainly it's one of the most historic, if not the most beautiful. Just 15 homes will be custom built from your plans or ours abutting Greenscres Country Club Golf Course. Each will share in a sweep of common land... and in views and privacy all but vanished these days. Isn't it all this worth $50,000 or more?
